

MIX, MAKE AND THROW, TO GROW

Seed Ball making machine

In the present day, the most challenging problem that the human race is facing is the evidently disturbing climate change. It is real and is standing right before us sending signs of danger.

Trees have become the silent victims of urbanisation and the world is struggling to address the issues of global warming and depleting green cover. Seed Balls have surfaced as an innovative solution, answering to the global issue of the depleting green cover. The CSR initiative administered by ELF called "Empowering Women and Inspiring Children" is what I have pledged. This campaign not only offers help to the fast fading green cover, it also offers empowerment opportunity to a group of underprivileged women.

On 5th of June 2019, on the occasion of World Environment Day, 'Elecon Ladies Forum' (ELF) began a remarkable initiative to heal the planet. A unique CSR campaign under the banner, "Mix, Make and Throw To Grow" for the protection of our ecosystem was launched, with a pledge to make Ten Million Seed Balls for dispersal with the help of school and college students in wastelands and barren areas locally while the district Collector has agreed to extend unprecedented support to this project.

Seed Balls are small nuggets of manure, clay with seeds embedded in them and dried. When thrown in a wasteland, a chosen area of land or highway skirts at the time just before the monsoon, these seed balls will bring back the green cover in a matter of years.

A prototype Seed Ball machine was conceptualized and launched by Elecon Peripherals. This machine has the production capacity of over 25,000 Seed Balls a day, to help in fulfilling the pledge to disperse Ten Million seed balls by June 2020.

Madhubhan has been practising and inspiring the sustainability measures in helping the ecosystem ensuring that we give back more to the environment with a mission to create awareness and making the dream of sustainable growth a living reality.
